

On application to Charles County Court petition in writing of John Budd, of Charles County, for the benefit of the assembly for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, passed at November session 1815, & the several supplements thereto, the terms mentioned therein: a schedule of his property and of all his creditors on oath, as far as he can ascertain them, accompanying his petition; and the court being satisfied by competent testimony, that the said John Budd resided two years immediately preceding the time of his application, in the state of Maryland: it is thereupon ordered and judged, that the said John Budd, by using a copy of this order to be inserted in some one of the newspapers edited in the district of Columbia, once a week for six months before the third Monday in March next, give notice to his creditors to APPEAR before the said court at the court house in Charleston, the said third Monday in March next, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit, and to show cause why they have, why the said John Budd should not have the benefit of the act of assembly aforesaid, and the several supplements thereto, as prayed.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

Hill and Dale, Fred. County, Virginia, December 30.
Absconded from this plantation on the night of the 24th instant, without the smallest provocation or known cause, a very black young man, named PETER, supposed to be about twenty two or twenty three years of age & about 5 feet 7 or 8 inches high, strong, and robust and broad over the shoulders. He had new cloaths of home made cloth filled, of a drab color, but I have some reason to think he sold them and may appear in what is called his Sunday cloaths, the coat of which is brown cloth pretty much worn, but he has other cloaths and may change them. I will give Fifty Dollars apprehended out of the state of Virginia, and Twenty five if taken in the state or district of Columbia and brought home to me or lodged in a jail so that I get him again. Masters of vessels are admonished, at their peril, from taking him on board and conveying him away.

Fauquier Lands.

THE subscriber offers for sale the estate wherein he resides in the county of Fauquier, about 8 miles from the court-house, on Cedar Run, between the roads leading to Fredericksburgh and Occoquan; 30 miles distant from either place, and 40 to Alexandria by the turnpike, from Buckland. The tract is computed at three thousand three hundred and seventy acres, and is divided into three farms, with Woodland and Meadows, conveniently distributed for each. There is a Valuable Mill Seat, with stone on the spot for building.— The stream is abundant, and waters the whole tract, presenting an extent of Four or five hundred Acres of Low Grounds of first quality.—The high land is well divided into regular fields, some of them very productive, and is adapted to the use of Plaster. Few tracts can possess greater advantages either for extensive grazing or grain culture.
The purchaser or purchasers of the land, can be accommodated with the farming utensils, the crops of Corn and the sown Wheat—the stock of Cattle, Horses, Sheep and Hogs; and with the Negroes on the estate in families, making about 150, of a very valuable description, with some tradesmen.
The improvements are a comfortable Dwelling House, with good out Houses, Ice House, Stables, &c. The situation is healthy and the water uncommonly good. Two thirds of the whole purchase money will be required at the delivery of the property, the balance in short payments with interest and secured by deed of trust.

From the N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

We regret, that the following beautiful production ("A Christmas Thought") and "An Ode for Christmas") had not been received in season to be published on the day preceding that of the Christian festival to which they relate. They cannot fail, however, to be read, at any time, with interest and delight:—
A CHRISTMAS THOUGHT.
By a Young Lady of the Episcopal Church.
And they shall call his name Emanuel!
God with us.*

The great advent is accomplished! The promises to the Patriarchs—the predictions of the prophets—Symbols & figures, are now fulfilled—gloriously terminated in the coming of the anointed.
Let us accompany the wise men on a visit to the Prince of Peace; humbly let us pause and reflect whether we are not presuming in thus considering ourselves as visitors to this august personage. The King of Glory, the deliverer of his people.
If the gates of heaven are to lift up their heads, and the everlasting doors to be lifted up to admit the Messiah, may we not expect to find him with all the grand accompaniments attendant on his royal state? Or, knowing ourselves rebels to his government, and delinquents to his law, may we not expect to find him surrounded with the emblems of his just displeasure; the loud sounding trumpet, the thick and threatening cloud—the awful thunder and terrific lightning—that caused the mountain to quake & all the people to tremble when Omnipotence revealed himself to his chosen? This we have not to apprehend. The Saviour is not come to give his people a law. He is now come "to give light to them that sit in darkness and the shadow of death, to guide our feet in the way of peace." Therefore if we follow the path of the wise men to pay the homage of love and duty to him who is so justly entitled to it, will find him in a form to encourage our approach. Had he appeared in the splendor connected with his celestial state, it would have required more than the veil of Moses to allow of optics weakened by sin, shrubs, &c. Possession can be given about the 1st of December.

He will purchase Dry Cows.

Mortals! join the anthem glorious!
Nations! swell the lofty cry?
Sing the Lamb of God victorious Beaming from his Father's sky!
Oh! your high salvation prize; Mingle in the rapturous lay, Hail the morning's lovely rising That proclaims the Saviour's day!

Hark! from Heaven in joy descending, Swells the seraph's glowing song,
With the hymned triumph blending Warm from man's enraptured tongue Hark! the glad hosanna soaring Kindles on the answering sky, Wide o'er earth in gladness pouring Notes of love and harmony?

Hail the morn. in beauty's coming, Bright with heaven's refulgent blaze, Night's unathomed caves glowing With its renovating ray; When with loveliness resplendent Judah's star of glory shone, When in purity transcendent Jesus left his Father's throne!

Hov'ring o'er the shepherd's slumbers, Angels told the joyful news, As their soul entrancing numbers Linger'd on the m'ning dews; Glorious as to heaven returning, Rose the choir from mortal sight, Lovely in the east was burning Christ's triumphant morning bright.

Guiding to the lap of ages From the orient realm afar, Sweetly to the eastern sages Shone a heaven direct'd star;
With unearthly splendor gleaming Flam'd its bright and blessed ray, Nations hail'd its radiance beaming—Star of an eternal day!

To the lands of sorrow weeping Shone the Saviour's sooth'ning light, Man, before in darkness sleeping, Turn'd to him his raptur'd sight, Earth's wild waste a desolation Bloom'd anew with heavenly flowers, As the tidings of salvation Roll'd along the blissful hours.

Brought again to life and heaven Man lifts up his drooping head, Paradise again is given.
Verdure blooms beneath his tread, Heav'n expands its massy portals;

NEW MUSICAL INSTRUMENT.
Mr. Penzance, an ingenious mechanic in Middle street, Boston, has lately invented a musical instrument, of a different construction we believe, from any which has been produced among all the novel curiosities of the musical artificers. It resembles the organ, so far as it is supplied by wind from a bellows, and played upon by a regular set of keys; but the sound is produced, upon the principle of the vibration of the string, and in this respect differs from all other Musical Instruments, except the humble Jew's Harp. The interior construction is extremely simple; a long brass plate is perforated with a gradation of orifices, of a rectangular to m, which extend from one end to the other. Immediately over each of these holes, an elastic or vibrating tongue is firmly placed, by means of a screw at one end, like the spring of the Jew's Harp. The bellows below creates a wind, which rushing through these cavities produces the vibration upon the spring. The principles which govern the vibration in this case are the same as those which apply to the pendulum; so that the quickness of vibration in the present instance is in the inverse proportion of the length of the spring—A spring therefore, which is an octave higher than another, will necessarily vibrate with twice its rapidity. This simple principle being pursued, the inventor has produced an instrument of much value to the musical profession. The mechanist having tested his principle, is now constructing an instrument upon a larger scale, which will not be subject to the inconvenience which the clumsiness of a first attempt has obviously occasioned—[Boston Intelligencer.

ALEXANDRIA.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 14.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT AT WASHINGTON.

January 11.

As the contested election for a delegate from the Missouri Territory, cannot reasonably be supposed to interest the community in which your paper circulates, the transactions of the House of Representatives this day offered me scarcely any information worth your acceptance.
The committee of elections made a report yesterday, in consequence of the re-commitment of their former report on the motion of Mr. Webster, and this day that second report was brought under the consideration of the house and was found to conclude with a resolve, that the committee of elections should be discharged from the further investigation of the matter; which resolve seems to have been founded on the fact, that no evidence had been submitted by either party, enabling the committee to investigate the qualifications of the electors. On the report being read, various suggestions were started in relation to the course that ought to be taken. Mr. T. M. Nelson of your state, thought that the election ought to be declared illegal and void. Mr.
Taylor, of New-York, that the sitting delegate should be declared not entitled to his seat, and that the Speaker should communicate that resolution to the governor of the Missouri Territory; while Mr.
Randolph preferred the former of those courses to the latter, still however adhering to the opinion he had expressed on a former day, that the house had nothing more to do than to see whether the delegate had brought with him the credentials prescribed by the law. The Speaker, however expressed a decided opinion that the sitting delegate had been unlawfully returned by the governor, and that the petitioner, Rufus Easton, was entitled to the seat; and, with a view to prevent such dangerous practices in future, as well as to do justice, he proposed a resolution to that effect. Mr. Culpepper, Mr. Sheffield, Mr. McKim, and Mr. Sharp, opposed the resolution; Mr. Hopkinson opposed the latter part of it, only because there was no evidence before the house to support it: Thus was the day (I believe it was the third too) consumed upon the question whether John Scott or Rufus Easton shall be agent in Congress for the Missouri Territory. I think it likely that Monday also will be added to the waste, for Mr. Scott is to speak in defense of his seat; and if he be as long winded as his adversary, the balance of the day, after his tour shall be served, will be very little.

Mr. Randolph, who, if he cannot always convince the house, seldom fails to enliven the debate, in answer to a suggestion, that Mr. Scott ought to be put out, and Mr. Easton to be put in, & that then Mr. Scott might, if he chose, become the petitioner, and proving this right, if the right he had, get restored to it, compared that action to the old man and woman on the clock, who alternately moved in and out, and said that in that way the whole time of the house would be taken up in watching the exits and the entrances of the two candidates. The house being thrown by this apt illustration into a fit of laughter, Mr. Randolph assured them that he did not wish to excite their risibility, but that there was something in the notions propounded by the hon. member so infinitely ridiculous, that the impulse could not be resisted.

On a motion of no great importance respecting internal improvements. Mr.
Randolph disclosed a circumstance that demands attention from some quarters, and which, he said, he was led to by a puff that appeared in some of the newspapers, upon the perfection of our postoffice establishments. So ill treated were the people in North-Carolina and that part of Virginia where he resided (Roanoke) that "you, sir," said he, addressing the Speaker, "may send a letter home to Lexington in Kentucky and receive an answer, before I, writing the same day from this city, can get an answer from my home. A two horse waggon loaded with a hoghead of tobacco, will not be many hours behind the mail in passing from Roanoke to Richmond."

We learn from Annapolis that the Committee of Grievances and Courts of Justice of the House of Delegates, have made a Report in part to the House, in which changes are exhibited against Judge Hollingsworth, Judge Bland and Judge Harwood. The three Judges have been summoned to appear before the General Assembly and answer to the charges.

The Constitution of this state provides that each judge shall be removed from office by the governor, upon the address of the general assembly, provided that two thirds of all the members of each house concur in such address.

Extraordinary Production.
Mr. James Goff, an industrious citizen of Bristol (in the vicinity of Warren)

ANECDOTE.
A laughable subject occupied the bench at the Middlesex sessions, a short time since. It was a prosecution, as stated by Mr. Barry, the counsel, against Ann E.
Pinasse, for assault on Mary Kile, by throwing stones at her window while she was sitting in the room, and thereby endangering her person. Mr. Alley, on the part of the defendants said, the prosecutor had educated a cockatoo, & among other accomplishments had taught it to go into his client's garden & eat her dill-bush.
On the day of what the learned friend had called an assault, this cockatoo came in to her garden and insulted her in the manner which has been described. The Learned Gentleman left it to the jury to say, whether this could be called an assault, and expressed a hope, that in order to prevent the recurrence of such unpleasant misunderstandings among neighbors, some philanthropist would establish a school for the better education of parrots, magpies and cockatoos. The jury, after a moment's consideration, returned a verdict of Not Guilty.—London paper.

Land for Sale.
I will sell my tract of Land situate in Prince William County, Virginia, containing 500 acres, two thirds of which is in wood, and the remainder in meadow and arable land. This land lies contiguous to the lands of the late Richard Brent and Colonel Gerard Alexander, and in the immediate vicinity of three merchant mills. There are on the premises several stone quarries of excellent building stone, and it is believed there is a bed of iron ore on one part of the farm.
The improvements are an overseer's house, granaries and other out houses—timber has been prepared for building a dwelling house which may likewise be had.
The purchaser can also be accommodated with about twenty NEGROES, among which are a carpenter, a good cook and excellent seamstress, the others are working hands—together with horses, cattle, sheep, & farming utensils of every description. There are on the premises an excellent orchard of peach and plumb trees and common apples.
A long credit will be given to the purchaser, on giving good security and paying the interest punctually.

ROBBERY.

On the night of the 6th of December, 1816, the Exchange Office of the subscriber, Bridge street, Georgetown, from appearances by a false key, was robbed of the following property, in specie, consisting of dollars, change, American and English gold, about $200 dollars; bank notes, mostly three dollar notes of the bank of Washington, and some small tickets, together about $50 dollars, a pound note of the bank of England, and one hundred and sixty four lottery tickets as per numbers below. The lottery tickets can be of no use to the persons taking them, and an attempt to pass them would only lead to a detection, it is therefore hoped that the person or persons who took them, will return them to the subscriber through the Post Office at Georgetown. A liberal Reward will be paid by the subscriber for any information that may lead to the discovery of the persons or a recovery of the property. All keepers of lottery offices in the United States will please to keep a list of the numbers of the following tickets, as it may lead to a discovery of the theft.
